Submission of a paper
for publication
in the Proceedings

Informatik Festival

2024

This is the final information for submitting a paper for publication in the proceedings of the INFORMATIK FESTIVAL 2024. Please read it carefully - we aim to make the submission process as easy as possible for you.

The chairs are responsible for ensuring that all authors receive this information and meet all deadlines and formal requirements.

Three steps to publication in the Proceedings

Step 1: July 7, 2024: Deadline for the submission of papers. The chairs submit all papers of a workshop. Important to note:

- The chairs submit all contributions (author last name_title) and a list of contributions (last name, first name + e-mail address + substitute author in case of vacation with name and e-mail address) by July 7, 2024. Please use the following table:

Ref. No.	Contribution (=name of the PDF)	Last name Author	First name Author	Invoice number of the ticket of the author present	E-Mail-Adress	Last name, first name Substitute	E-mail address Substitute
1	Da Silva_Weird Robot Faces	Da Silva	Yasmin Joon	1234567890	yjds@whatever.com	Schmitz, Jupp	jupp.schmitz@whatever.com

- Papers must be submitted in the current template (as of February 2024). Please communicate the following links to the authors (the correct versions are only available there):
  - German version:
<https://gi.de/fileadmin/GI/Hauptseite/Service/Publikationen/LNI/LNI-Autorenrichtlinien.docx>
  - English version:
<https://gi.de/fileadmin/GI/Hauptseite/Service/Publikationen/LNI/LNI-authorsinstructions-englisch.doc>
  - LaTeX:
<https://gi.de/service/publikationen/lni>

- The editors assume that the chairs will ensure that the content and spelling of the articles are correct.
- As part of one revision loop, the GI formally corrects whether the articles fully comply with the template specifications. If a faulty article is submitted again after the one correction loop, publication cannot take place OR an hourly rate of €120.00 will be charged for corrections. Deadlines must still be met.
- Authors will have one week to make the usually very minor corrections. As the proceedings are produced during a popular vacation period, as is the case every year, each author is required to communicate the name and e-mail address of a substitute who will make the corrections on time in the event of vacation or other absence.
- Hint: Since most papers will probably be submitted by the deadline, we recommend submitting them well before the deadline for faster processing.

Step 2: July 2024: Revision phase and submission of the correct paper

- Case 1: No correction necessary: The author receives information from the GI that the paper has been accepted.
- Case 2: Corrections necessary: The GI sends the paper with comments directly to the named author and their representative.
  - After one week of correction, the authors (or substitutes) send their paper back to the personal contact person and to proceedings@gi.de
  - If further corrections are required, the author will be informed that the paper cannot be published or that an hourly rate of €120.00 per started hour will be charged for corrections. If no feedback is received, the paper will not be published.

Step 3: August 2024: Final correction

The GI sends the final version to the chairs, who can forward it to the authors. Between August 16-30, 2024, all participants have time to check the preliminary version (especially table of contents, header). Important: Changes to the articles themselves can no longer be considered (these were made in the 1st revision loop). Correction requests can be sent to proceedings@gi.de. After August 30, 2024, no more correction requests can be accepted without exception.
